MASONIC DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY THE GRAND LIBRARIAN OF THE GRAND LODGE OF THE STATE OF NEW-YORK.

Happy, indeed, is the lodge which is in possession of a good secretary. There is more true, practical Masonry obtained at the secretary's desk than in any other station in the lodge.

It is the secretary who is the connecting link of the order with the outer world; to him belongs the prosaic but practical work of gathering in the shekels wherewith to oil the machinery of the lodge, and, though the Master may rattle off the ritual a la "Standard" he cannot therewith collect a dollar to help the or clothe the orphan; it is the constant drumming and labor of the faithful secretary that call the brethren to his desk to pay up.

The secretary, if attentive to his duty, will know all the members, and know how hard or how easy it is for them to comply with the demands of charity upon their purses; and more than any officer of the lodge, he should possess the entire and unqualified confidence of the tious brother is installed as Master in the East, and behold! there he finds the ever-faithful secretary at his post, and, as his right hand, tolling on for the good of the lodge, and ready to belp and support each incoming Master in all good works of the lodge, ready to serve on com-mittees, visit the sick and gladden the heart of mittees, visit the sick and gladden the heart of those in need.

But "there are others," alas! who are not overscrupulous in handling the sacred funds of the lodge. Happily these, are few in number, and these are generally known, and their tenure of office is of short duration; by far the large majority of our secretaries are true and faithful workers in our quarries, and if perchance a Past Master consents to act as such, it is all the better, for then he is in possession of the full experience of the needs of the lodge and has "passed through", the ordeni, and having no further ambition to satisfy, may devote his entire energy to the utmost and absolute good of the lodge. Brethren, if you have a good secretary, stand by him and help him fulfil his arduous duties. It is for the interest of the lodge and of Masonry to have a good and efficient secretary at the desk. Every Master and every member should appreciate a good and faithful secretary.

PARK LODGE NO. 516.

Park Lodge met and conterred the third degree and then called off for the summer, but all this could not be done quietly and silently, as that is not the way of Park. The sparkling and effervescent and if the members of Park did not have an occasional outlet in the shape of a gala night, there would be an explosion, and W. John Reisenweber ould have a good suit for damages.

W. Richard Shepard opened the lodge promptly the appointed hour and expedited the routine and, as R. W. James B. Gillie was anfear of The Tribune before him, had matters arranged that the lecturer ascended the East explanatory of the degree, in a unique and original

The minutes were read and approved, and the lodge was closed before II o'clock, giving those who desired it a chance to go home, and those who wished to tarry were invited to a very seasonable barquet, which was enjoyed by a great number. This is as as it thould be, and Masters would do well to follow the example of Park. Toasts and addresses were made at the banquet by R. W. Gillie, Alian Willams, Dr. Mortimer and Ralph Mayer. Brother Simpson sang a Scotch song, and others also entertained the brethren, notably W. Alexander McGrath and Brother Moore, who dwelt especially apon the coming event of Park Lodge on next Wednesday, when the annual excursion takes place. Among the many visitors were R. W. Elwood, P. D. D. of the Fourth; M. D. Getty, of the Ninth, Gairns, of the Sixth Affleck and Mathews, P. D. D.'s of the Seventh W. J. Duncan, P. G. L., and W's galore. There were Niner, of Shakespeare; Aud, of Corinthian; Halliday and Alexander, of Hope John Watt, Kennedy and Clark, of Pyramid; Hudow, of Hoboken Lodge, New-Jersey; Alsdorf and Brockway, of Gamercy; Lewis, Guest, Muchsam, Sheidon, Boyd and Rose, of Evangelist; Harkness, Collins, Rodgers, Dryer and Owens, of Charity; Eggesion and Shatp. Park called off until September 15, but will call on every member next Wednesday, 18th inst., at Roton Foin.

CRAFTSMEN HONORED.

Right Worshipful Alexander S. Williams, Past Master of Advance Lodge No. 635, located at Astoria, has just been accredited as Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge of Arkansas near that deserved. The many friends of the Rt. Worshipful in the old First District as well as those in the Brother Williams is thus honored and that his services for the craft have been recognized.

-R. W. Joseph J. Little has just been appointed Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge of England near the Grand Lodge of New-York, a most worthy and fitting selection. R. W. Bro. Little has served the craft in many positions. He was made a Mason in Kane Lodge No. 454 and was its Master in 1885 and 1886. He served as District Deputy Grand Master of the Sixth Masonic District in 1887, and was for several years the president of the Masonic Board of Relief. Outside of Masonry Bro. Little has frequently been recognized as an emi-nent and foremost citizen. He was elected to Conhe served on the Board of Education and was realthough Bro. Little is a Democrat. Brother Little served in the war for the Union and passed through all the campaigns of 1862, 1863 and 1864, beginning at the bottom and rising steadily to lieutenant, and As colonel of the Veteran Association of the Ilst Regiment. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, a life member of the American Institute, of the Geographical Society, ex-president of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the City of New-York, and is a director in several financial institutions. He is also a member of the Aldine, Manhattan and Players' clubs and of the Craftsman Club. He is a member of Lafayette Post No. 146, G. A. R. Brother Little from a small beginning as a printer is now the head of one of the largest printing and publishing establishments will grace any position in the fragrenty or out of it, and has the good will and good wishes of the members of the craft at large, who sincerely congratulate him upon this new honor conferred upon him by the Grand Master.

R. W. Herman Cantor, Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge "Zur Eintracht," has just received an elaborate certificate of honorary membership in the Ludwig zu den drei Sternen Lodge, located at Friecherg, in Darmstadt, near Frankforton-the-Main. The certificate is handsomely engrossed and recounts the many and faithful services rendered by the R. W. Brother and announc. W. Bro. B. vices rendered by the R. W. Brother and announcing his election as honorary member.

W. Bro B. Hertz, the faithful secretary of King Solomon Lodge, celebrated his seventieth birthday, and the Master, W. Emil Frenkel, with all the Past Masters and many members of King Solomon Lodge, waited upon Bro. Hertz and on behalf of the lodge presented him with a very elegant easy chair, a silver eigar case and a quantity of cigars.

R. W. Dr. Frech, D. D. of the Twenty-eighth District on behalf of all the lodges in the Twenty-eighth, congratulated him, and Dr. Rhinethaler recited an original poem. A collation was served, at which the "Tubalner" was toasted and feted and congratulatory speeches were made.

Right Worshipful George W. White, P. D. D. of the Sixth, was elected secretary of the National Wall Paper Trust in addition to the position he now holds as chief accountant of said trust. Thus Talent and true worth will ever assert themselves. The brethren have long since fully realized the sterling qualities of this worthy brother, and they will be pleased to learn that his integrity and industry have been appreciated by this great institu-

THEOLOGUE AND FREE MASON.

THE SONS OF LIGHT-THEIR FRIENDS AND THEIR ENEMIES-A MASONIC ALLEGORY.

A certain Priest who dwelt in that part of the land of Zeal which lies behind the Mountains of Intolerance and borders on the shore of Bigotry, being a devout and conscientious man, had long desired to rid the world of all institutions which he thought were opposed to good morals and religion, as he understood them. So he set out on a journey for that purpose; and being informed that Ancient Craft Masonry was a most subtle and dangerous thing, and also of great antiquity, he resolved to subdue it first. He came to a city where there was a temple, and gave out that he would on the morrow

In the morning he went near the temple and stood by a portico having seven steps, from which he intended to speak. While waiting he beheld a man of venerable and benevolent appearance, accompanied by others who were listening to his instructions. The Priest drew near and saluted him with great "I am come to put an end to a certain ancient fra-ternity, calling themselves Sons of Light (Free Masons), but in re lity they are children of dark-ness, who cease not to build up their secret and wicked system in all countries, as they have done for many ages. Thou knowest them and that they come much emboldened by the forbearance of the wise and good, who abhor such things; wherefore I hope and expect thy counsel and aid in my under-

And the Worshipful Master answered, saying: "Thou dost well to seek counsel in thy enterprise; what I can do for thy good I will do, but when dost thou begin?" And the Priest said: "Now; behold, here is my stand, and the multitude are gathering to hear my discourse." But the W. Brother said: "Art thou fully prepared to enter on thy work?" And the Priest said: "I am; for I have studied the writings of my sect and of all those who are opposed to this ancient and obnox-ious fraternity, and I have the sacred Scriptures with which to condemn them; moreover, I have seen a vision, and an angel appeared to me and asked me what I desired, and when I answered that I might overthrow all to whom I am opposed, or who are opposed to me, he said to me otry and sin.' So I am come hither as thou seest." But the Mason answered: "If thou hadst been as wise as Solomen, King of Israel, when the Lord appeared to him in Gideon and asked him what he most desired, thou shouldst have answered and said as he said: 'More light.' '

Then the Priest was silent for a moment, and said to the brother; "What, dost thou coursel me?" And the Mason said: "I have been taught 'that no one should presume to enter upon any impor-tant undertaking without first invoking the blessing of the Deity." "Thou art right," said the Priest; "this will I do." And he knelt and prayed. And when his prayer was ended he was asked: "If thou meet with difficulty in thy undertaking, in whom dost thou trust for assistance?" And the symbolic trowel is the implement of brotherly love, how, without this, canst thou rightfully speak against the act of any? The trestle-board will teach thee to make thy work correspond with the designs of the divine plan, and, therefore, seek in all nature the work and glory of God, and imitate the same; and the compass will circumscribe thy passions and desires within due bounds, lest thou be moved by jealousy or envy, or seek thine own praise to the injury of others. Moreover, by this thou canst know when thou art standing in the centre." Then answered the other and said: "Thou hast done well, my brother, to prepare me with these also." And he advanced upon the fourth step. But a fourth came and said: "Nay, before thou goest further take my mailet and chisci." But again the Priest said: "Hast thou nothing better to offer me?" But the fourth said: "Take them, for they are the tools of one who can engrave and inlay. By these thou canst engrave thy instructions on the hearts of thy hearers, as on two tables of stone, one of which shall contain the duties of man toward God, and one the duty of man toward his fellow-man, after the manner of the tables of the law. Moreover, by these thou canst enrich and ornament thy work after the designs of the divine plan, that beauty may be upon all." And he took them with a blessing on him that gave, and stepped upon the fifth stone.

And yet a fifth came and said: "Hold! In thy present understanding thou wilt need my rule and line; take them for thy perfect preparation."

"Why these?" said the other; "I have all I want.

But the fifth said; "Take them, for they pertain to the chair of Solomon. The rule will teach thee to frame thy design on the trestle-board that thou carriests of that they will be true copies of the divine designs as drawn on the great trestle-board. The line will be useful to thee, for how, without this, wilt thou lay the foundation of thy work in accordance with by designs, that there be no confusion in thy work and thou therefore put to manna, which is th wait a time with patience, and followed the brethren in the temple.

And they went into the Temple, and as they passed through the portal behold two great pillars, on one inscribed, "Glory to the Highest," and on the other, "Peace and good will among men." And the Priest saids to his conductor, "Who art thou and what is thy faith?"

And the Master said: "I am of the twelve tribes of Israel, the descendant of those faithful workmen who wrought out the building of King Solomon's Temple."

of Israel, the descendant of those faithful workmen who wrought out the building of King Solomon's Temple."

And the other said: "How canst thou, being a Jew, enter with me, who am a Christian; what has thou done, or thy people, that they should enter a house erected to God and universal benevolence?" And the brother Mason said: "Did not my fathers preserve the Holy Writings through peril and persecutions? The seven pasims or degrees of King David and all that thou hast in thy ancient Scriptures? Resides, do not my brethers stand up for the name of Jehovah, the God on High, throughout all the earth unto this day? Dost thou worship some other God?" And the theologue answered: "True, we will even so together; but who is this that walked the self of Arabia," said the master Mason. "W. at," said the other. 'Shall this Mussuman go in a so? What has he done that he should enter." And the Mufti said: "Shall I go, in? Heve not my fathers worshipped the God of Abraham and abhorred idolatory above all people? Have I not also the writing of 'he prophets' Moreover, if thou shouldst come to my country, thou shouldst find shelter and sustenance in my tent, for the fire that burns for the stranger goes not out in the tem of the Arab. And the Priest bowed and said: "Truly, we three are brethren, but who are these others?"

And they answered him: "They are of different tribes and kindred, the dwellers of all lands which the Lord hath made, whose names are written with Ben Adhem's pen in the roll of those who love their fellowmen." And while they yet spake there came a wayfasing man in tattered garments, aged and leaning on a staff. And those who were with the Freemasons gave him each a piece of money, and the Mufti coin of plenty, and the Rabbit a bottle of wine for refreshment, and the theologue oil, saying, "Let this be for thy joy, and now do I perceive that charity is no respecter of persons." And they all entered into the Temple.

And when the master and his brethren by certain ancient and significant observances had ministered to the priestly theologue did his heart conceive the things of most excellent beauty. And they stood by the altar; and the smoke of the incense went up, and behold the wayfarer stood in the smoke glorified and he was the angel cume again. And he said to the theologue: "Did I tell thee thou shouldst overcome much bigotry and sin?" And the theologue said to the other: "It is good, to be here; let us build here three tabernacles, one for us, one for the stranger who may some here to sojourn, and one for the angel that waiteth."

And they all united in praise to God. And the priest said: "Nay, my house shall be my brother's house, for verily we are descendants all from one flesh, and our Father above ruleth all things. Let us be brothers, truly brothers in charity, sons of light, as we are all sons of the Great Jehovah, our Father, who art in Heaven."

The subject of this sketch was born in New-York City September 5, 1857, where, after graduating from the public school and attending a business college, he learned the printing business. Shortly after he entered one of the largest wholesale grocery years, when, having removed to Mount Vernon, he concluded to embark in business for himself. Starting in a modest way in a coal business, he has, by industry and fair dealing, become the leading coal ing in a modest way in a coal business, he has, by industry and fair dealing, become the leading coal merchant in that section. Of a congenial disposition, he naturally became interested ir. Masonry, pelitioned Hiawatha Lodge No. 434, and was raised therein on April 10, 1889. His preferment in Masonry came unsought. THE TOILERS IN MASONIC QUARRIES.

Manhactan Lodge No. 62 met Friday night, but there was no work, except that greatest and best of all Masonic work—the work of charity—which is never forgotten or pegiected in Manhattan Lodge.

Montgemery Lodge held a well-attended meeting with W. Yates in the East. There were no candidates for degrees, but a very peasant meeting was held. The brethren were entertained by remarks from W. Rudoiph Holde, Assistant Grand Lecturer W. Fred J. Brown and R. W. Adolph Gutgsell.

Palestine Lodge conferred the third degree. W. Richard Hughes, the Master, presided, and W. Ludwig explained the working tools. There were also present and assisting W. James Guest, of Acacia; Lassing, of Star of Cuba; Berry, of Tabernacle, and Robert H. Clark, of Fyramid.

Amily Lodge conferred the second degree, with

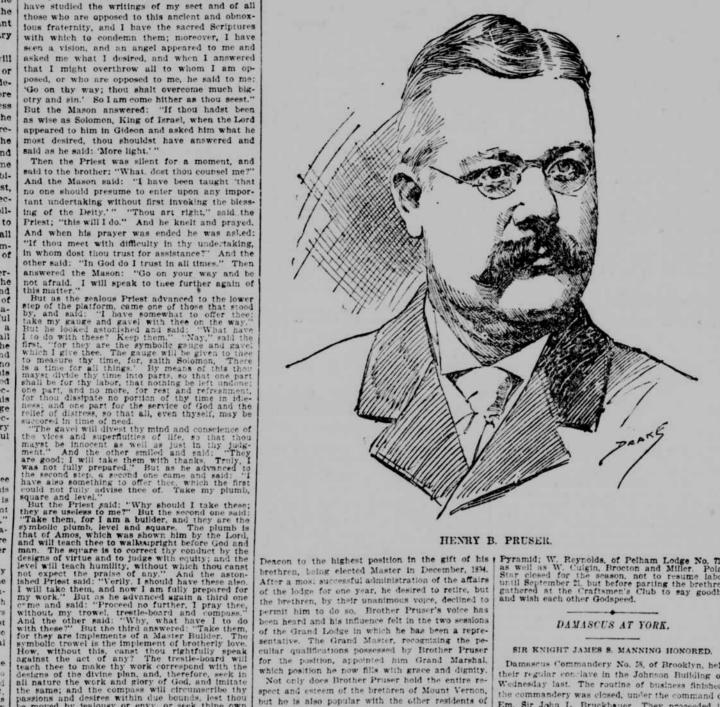

Acacia; Lassing, of Star of Cuba; Berry, of Tabernacle, and Robert H. Clark, of Fyramid.

Amity Lodge conferred the second degree, with R. W. John R. Pope in the East and W. Peter J. Ferrier conducting the candidates through the Middle Chamber work There were present and seated in the East R. W. Charles K. Hyde, W's Berry Collins, Brockway, Muehsam and Cone, of Narragansett Lodge, Fall River, Mass. Amity called off for the season.

Putnam Ledge worked the second degree. W. Vaughan presided. The new District Deputy of the Sixth Masonic District paid the lodge an unofficial visit, at d showed his metal by conferring the degree himself, while the Master and officers were interested listeners. The District Deputy was accompanied by W. Sheldon, of Continental Lodge; Siran, of Adelphi; Stevens, of Ocean, and William and Berry.

Last Friday night Venerable Brother Phillip Michaelson, the only surving charter member of King Solomon Lodge No. 273, was visited by the Master and Past Masters, together with many members, and received the congratulatory wishes of his visitors. The Venerable Brother celebrated his eighty-third birthday. He has served King Solomon Lodge as secretary for twenty-five years. Many addresses and good speeches were made, all expressing the best wishes for the Venerable Brother.

Folar Star Lodge conferred the third degree in the usual good form. W. Frank L. Hamilton pre-

Deacon to the highest position in the gift of his brethren, being elected Master in December, 1814. After a most successful administration of the affairs of the lodge for one year, he desired to retire, but the brethren, by their unanimous voice, declined to permit him to do so. Brother Pruser's voice has been heard and his influence felt in the two sessions of the Grand Lodge in which he has been a representative. The Grand Master recognizing the real but he is also popular with the other residents of that rapidly growing suburb. At the last charter election he was, by an overwhelming majority, election he was, by an overwhelming majority, electical treasurer of the diff for three years, despite the fact that the other political parity was the dominant one. Brother Pruser is a leading light in the O. D. O., an order local to Westchester County, which limits its membership to Master Masons, Courteous and affable, he is certain to make and leave a good impression wherever he goes, and will leave his mark upon the office he now so ably fills. His brethren of Hiawatha Lodge are proud of him, and highly appreciate the honor that has been confered upon him by the Grand Master.

In spite of the very hot night, the rooms of Pyradegree night, but that was not the only attraction. The rumor had spread that one of Pyramid's own was to be honored that night, and many crafts-men came to be present on such an interesting occasion; but the committee having the matter in effect that it brought many visitors to Pyramid mittee that a much larger room will be needed to accommodate the legion of friends of the brother, announce the exact date and place, as soon as all Master, W. James H. Kennedy, who presided. W. Eggelson presented the working tools, and Bro. Daniel Quinn conducted the candidates. There were also present R. W. Thomas Moore, David Ray, Moses D. Getty, Stephen D. Affleck and Allan Williams.

This being the first visit to Pyramid of R. W. William S. Thompson, as Grand Standard Bearer, the distinguished brother was escorted to the East and the grand honors were given. Among others present were W. Frederick E. Davis, of Tecumschi, Sharp, of Scotia: McGrath, of Concerd; Swan, of Adelptij No. 23; Collins, of Monitor: Brockway, of Gramercy; Knapp, Coombs and Osleelsy, Of Pyramid's own there were W.'s Matthew Ritchie, John Watt, James Aitchison, Charles H. Paldwin, Robert H. Clark and R. W. William J. McDonald.

"THERE ARE OTHERS,"

For instance, Apawamis Lodge No. 800, which, though located in the suburbs at Mamaroneck, N. Y., will hold its own with any lodge in the metropolitan district. It is a pleasure to attend a com-munication of this good lodge because the great nim of the Master, officers and brethren is the exemplification of the principles and teachings of Masonry at all times in and out of the Lodge. The designs drawn upon the trestleboard by that faithful and energetic Mason, W. Bro. P. E. Henderson, are loyally followed by his brethren, who are ever Apawamis presents to the Masonic world an illus-tration of the passage of Scripture: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

On Thursday last the third degree was conferred ork performed. The officers were punctually in their respective places, and the members turned out in full force. Among the many visi-tors who came to prove the esteem in which Apawamis is held were R. W. Bro. Frank Palmer P. D. D. of the Ninth District; W. Rudolph Holde P. D. of the Ninth District, W. Radaph Rosal A. G. L.: Disbrow, of Architect; Whitaker, of Har-lem; Johnson, of Livingston and Apawamis's own George P. Lyon and Joseph Nooney. The Master, W. P. E. Henderson, presided during the first and W. P. E. Henderson, presided during the first and second sections; R. W. Bro. Palmer presented the working tools, and the historical lecture, delivered by W. Bro. Holde was pronounced the heat ever given in Apawamis Lodge. The lodge was then called to refreshment, and now it was W. Bro. Johnson's turn, whose humorous recitations, as well as addresses, by the W. Bro. Holde, Bro. Johnson, the S. D. and especially by one of the candidates, Bro. B. C. Meighan, kept the brethren to gether until low 12, wher, they departed, satisfied that this had been the meeting of all meetings in Apawamis Lodge. After wishing each other goodby the brethren parted to take a well-deserved vacation during the months of August and September.

SIR KNIGHT JAMES S. MANNING HONORED.

their regular conclave in the Johnson Building on Wednesday last. The routine of business finished, the commandery was closed, under the command of a body to the Asylum of York No. 55, in the Temple in New-York, where they were received by Em. Sir Knipe, who extended to them the usual knightly courtestes.

stated that the reason of the intrusion of the Sir Knights of Damascus was for the purpose of honoring one of York's Past Commanders, whose knightly deeds and services rendered to Damascus had endeared him to the fraters. Sir Maxwell had recounted the many acts of kindness that Em. Sir James S. Manning had done for Damascus, he presented him with an elegant en-Damascus, he presented him with an elegant engrossed certificate of honorary membership. Em. Sir Manning was taken by surprise for a moment, but quickly recovered himself and thanked the Sir Knights for the honor conferred, and hoped that no act of his would ever cause the Sir Knights of Damascus to regret their action.

The commandery was then closed and the visitors escorted to the banquet hall. After cigars were lighted came the flow of oratory and eloquence, Em. Sirs Bruckbauer, McDonald, Palmer, Wilson, Maxwell, Van Court, Ciapp, Fraser, Eunison, Paymond, Waring and others, all had a good word for the Em. Grand Junior Warden, who deserves well at the bands of Knights Templar.

West, of Pittsburg: P. B. Wells, of Washington D. C.: Cone, of Fall River, and Walter S. Lobing of Pittsburg, Penn. There were four Royal Arol Masons to receive the orders, and several other were proposed to be knighted at the next conclave. Masons to receive the orders, and several others were proposed to be knighted at the next conclave. The new Association of Commanders and Past Commanders of the Commanders of New-York and Brooklyn held the first regular meeting, adopted a code of by-laws, and transacted such other preliminary business as to start the association upon its successful career. Em. Sir Frank W. Goodwin, of No. 18, presided. There were fifty-eight charter members present, and the utmost harmon; and enthusiasm prevailed. The scope of the association is to be entirely social, and is formed solely for the benefit and improvement of Templarism in the metropolitan district. Every commander and Past Commander is eligible, and there is no doubt that this new organization will fill a useful niche in the structure of Templarism of the State and be of benefit to all its members and to the several commanderies.
